

Counting Atomic Bomb Survivors

By the end of 1945, 140,000 people had died in Hiroshima and 74,000 people had died in Nagasaki, according to one estimate. The death toll is in dispute. There is no precise record of how many people were killed.

Sources: Japan Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare; Atomic Heritage Foundation